All is well, just very busy. Word on the street is that the higher ups in EPA (our RA and Mathy) are looking to negotiate some sort of non-NPL deal (SF alternative-like) with the Army - Mathy is trying to do this at an R10 BLM/DOI site in Alaska and it is a disaster from our perspective (EPA has no control) - Reggie can tell you all about that one...just ask him about Red Devil Mine sometime. I personally am hoping that the state will stand strong on the need to list unless we have some sort of firm and enforceable (and NPL-equivalent) agreement in place, but will be happy with any outcome that gets cleanup moving in an adequate manner at this point....

I'm probably not supposed to forward this to you, so you didn't get it from me, but just thought you all might want a heads up that Judd will be getting a call.

FYI. A site management plan is not a path forward in lieu of listing. Stand by.'

Gwen-

It was a pleasure speaking with you last Wednesday. To re-iterate, Army does not feel it is in the best interest of Ft. Gillem's restoration program for the site to be listed on the NPL. As you suggested, I think further discussion with you and GAEPD leadership would be helpful.

As I mentioned, Army staff has been in conversation with GAEPD regarding a management plan for Ft Gillem that we think addresses GAEPD concerns. Sadly, your comments suggest that progress has been slower than we believed.

I propose we have a video conference soonest. I think smaller meetings are generally more productive, so propose that we limit attendees to ourselves and the EPD director, Mr. Judson Turner and perhaps one or two key staff each. Does this sound like a good approach?

My Executive Assistant, Ms. Irene Chamberlain (703) 697-2014, will be happy to work with your team regarding the setup of this video conference.
